Mark Campion
Chief executive
Explorer Motor Yachts

We are not like any other boat manufacturer, and when you purchase one of our superb Explorer Motor Yachts you will be buying an exceptionally well-crafted vessel that will stand out from its peers for many years to come.

Unlike many mass-produced motor yachts on the market, the full Explorer range is available with bespoke custom features as each vessel is handmade by a team of highly skilled craftsmen.

We only employ people with exceptional skills and experience to build Explorer Motor Yachts, and each one of them takes great pride in what they do.

Although much of the world's manufacturing is moving away from traditional skills and individual craftsmanship, we are proud to preserve our rich heritage by handcrafting each and every Explorer this way for you to enjoy.

It takes us a lot longer to build a boat like this, up to 12 months for an Explorer 60, but the solid feel and exceptional finish you get with our boats is indescribable.

I encourage you to experience it for yourself. You won't regret it.

THE EXPLORER MOTOR YACHT TEAM

Mark Campion – Chief executive

Mark followed in his father's footsteps into the shipping industry and began his career as a shipbroker in London. He soon graduated to a role controlling all sales and purchases for a division of the Blue Funnel shipping line.

He was drawn back to Asia where he had spent his early years to work in sales and purchasing for a large Hong Kong fleet. He then changed his focus with a move to Ocean Alexander in Taiwan where he held a quality control role in the luxury boat builder's factory for a decade.

In 2001 Mark entered a partnership to re-establish the Clipper Motor Yachts brand and set up production in a factory in Ningbo, China. Since then he has been responsible for developing new moulds and overseeing quality production to the point of delivery.

Seeing an opportunity to design and build quality bespoke pilot house motor yachts for discerning cruising clients, Mark set up Explorer Motor Yachts in 2012.

Mark Williamson – Naval architect

A respected naval architect with more than two decades of experience, particularly in the development of aluminium and composite structural design, Mark brings his passion for quality engineering to Explorer Motor Yachts.

Australian-born Mark began his career designing composite structures for locally built motor yachts after completing a degree in engineering specialising in naval architecture in Sydney.

Since then he has worked on design for a wide range of working and pleasure boats ranging from seven metres up to a 82-metre high-speed ferry for Austal Ships based in Western Australia.

According to Mark, the success of a quality boat begins with careful design, the ability to select the right hull form for an application and calculating weight, power and seakeeping ability to meet survey requirements

Mark's role at Explorer Motor Yachts focuses on gaining the best possible performance below the waterline while ensuring that, above the waterline, the design provides both efficient and safe movement for the owner and guests onboard.

Mr Yu – Owner, Fuhua Shipbuilding Yard

After working with the Explorer team for more than a decade, Mr Yu now works in close partnership with the quality motor yacht manufacturer.

Pivotal to this successful relationship is his investment in the Fuhua Shipbuilding Yard, where the Explorer range is produced to the highest standards with meticulous attention to detail and rigorous quality control measures.

Together, Mr Yu and the team have developed the new range of quality pilot house cruisers while building a solid understanding of world markets, and Mr Yu's commitment to investing in the latest technology and staff welfare programmes ensures that there is no better place in the world to construct an Explorer.
